

Erasmus Evaluation - Truro 28th Oct - 1st Nov

What have you learnt about the cultural heritage of Cornwall?	What has gone well this week?	What would you do to improve the experience next time?
Finland and Spain open presents on the 24th December	Good conversations
King Arthur lived in Tintagel (Cornwall), Scones are eaten with cream on top and jam on bottom, fishing and harbours are a big part, St Ives has an interesting story (giants), new foods	Meeting and getting to know new people, the dancing was funny, bowling was funny, liked to be outside and look around different places	Better weather, extend the trip (weekends)
Finland has Christmas on 24th December, Croatian's have summer break for 3 months, a lot of dances from different countries, I tried a lot of new foods	Trips, great organisation, sea was very beautiful, I've made new friends	Not so much time in school
Spain and Finland have Christmas on 24th December, Croatian's have summer break for 3 months, how to do the different dances from the different countries	Going out on trips (Falmouth), meeting new people, new experiences	Not so much time in school
Finland and Spain open presents on the 24th December, King Arthur lived in Tintagel (Cornwall), the variety of fish, St Ives has an interesting story	Meeting new people, going to many places, getting to know England's culture	More time, better weather
Spain and Finland have Christmas on 24th December, Croatian's have summer break for 3 months, different dances	The trips, the company, the organisation, the free time
King Arthur lived in Tintagel (Cornwall), pasties of all kinds, St Michael Mounts flow, typical dances	Trip to Falmouth, dances, socialising, group activities	More activities in the late afternoon
I learnt about King Arthur, traditional dances, local food, traditions	Trips, ceilidh/dances, meetings in the evening with the group, meeting new people

That everything sort of links together, each one has a similarity, Cornish food is good.	Everything went well, everyone got along, no one went missing, met new people	Stay for a longer time (few more days)
I learnt about new foods, different habits and new places	This week went well	Nothing because this experience was fantastic
I learnt about King Arthur's Legend, Falmouth's culture and the traditional legend	The trips and when I sang for the people. Dancing with the international groups. And the most important I have met people	More trips. Thank you very much for everything :)
Myths, pasties, rugby, Cornish language	The dance Ceilidh, trips	Explanations of the trips
Learnt about the significance of Tintagel and it's story, titanic and boats at the Maritime Museum	Performance of our made up Fairy-tale, the Ceilidh, exploring traditional places, foods	Go to the beach more, have fish and chips, go to Eden Project, we learn more about the countries that were here that I'm not going to
Significance of Tintagel in Cornish History, about Titanic, traditional Cornish boats at the Maritime Museum	The Ceilidh, experiencing dancing from the other countries, we were allowed to explore the areas on our own	Eden Project visit, more trips, experience the foods of other countries, a day at the beach, go onto St Michael's Mount
Pasty (crumble), beaches (surfing), rugby, Tintagel, Fish and Chips, Ceilidh, the Cornish language, flag	Visit to Tintagel, meeting new people, trying new food, free time we had	Visit more places
Pasty, crumble, surfing, rugby, angry seagulls, the Cornish language, fish and chips, the Cornish flag, Ceilidh dance	Atmosphere, groups, free time, views, social people, dances, food	More information on locations
Pasty and crumble, rugby and Ceilidh, Cornish Language, Brexit, flag	Visit to Tintagel and Maritime Museum, dance with the typical music, stay with people of other cultures	More places to visit
Cornish dances, Ceilidh, learnt about lots of other countries cultural traditions	We have seen lots of different parts of Cornwall, met new people, learnt more about where we live, trips out
	We have met new people and seen old friends, trips out, new experiences	I think there should be more communication with schools before, so expectations are known, students should bring money

First jam, second cream on scones, history of pasties, King Arthur's island, woman are a big part of history - they built theatres and castles, Cornish people love their cafes, interesting visiting them, pasties everywhere, school is very strict- men with phones	Good conversations with different people from different countries, lots of trips about Cornwall, the food was pretty good, delicious, good experience	Bring some sun with me from Germany
It was interesting to visit the tourist spots	People have got on well	No rain
King Arthur connected to Cornwall, Pasties	Socialising with new people, travelling, things to do, there's been enough so didn't get bored	I think it was very successful at least on my part. I can't think of any improvement
I learnt about how people can be so kind no matter where you come from, it's about how you are and how you feel with people from other sides. I learnt how willing people are when they hear about other countries cultures	Everything I think. I had a good week, one of the best I guess. I met many funny people and I had some really funny moments with them. I cant wait to come back again	Just stay more time, the rest is fine
In Cornwall there are a lot of different traditions and legends. I was quite surprised because some were really creepy	The time spent with the other guys was fantastic in particular with the guys from countries very different from mine. I really liked the food - pasties and fish and chips	Do something inside because sometimes I got really wet
Finland has a Christmas goat, Germany has a Christmas mouse, German, Finland, Italy, Croatia, and Spain's myths and legends	I have got to know everyone and have become friends with everyone	Weather, longer
Bolster giant	Got to know new people, busy most evenings, learnt new things about people's culture especially festivals. I would like to experience the Spanish carnival	Had more information about the heritage whilst we were at the places

I never knew about the Bolster the Giant myth and I thought it was quite interesting to learn something new. On top of this, this week has opened my eyes wider to the 'true' Cornish culture and find out what it means to me (a non Cornish origin/parents)	I personally thought that the day in Falmouth was a really well-run day. This is partly due to the freedom gifted upon all students combined with it being Halloween. This did also make the day an enjoyable event	If I was a demi god I would control the weather so that it was warm, clear and blue skies. On a serious note though, I thought activities during the day could have been extended beyond 3.05pm school time limit to make it easier for hosts who would have less time to make their own activities
Maritime Museum and the significance to Cornwall	Ceilidh dance, organisation	Better time of year - for weather and students, some kind of contribution foods of other countries, only get to experience other countries, consistent throughout countries eg paying for outings, is it the same
It's folktales are similar to those of other countries	Everything, mostly making bonds between countries and making good friends. Also teaching others about our country. Falmouth	Longer stay, and possibly a change of topic to Cornish landmarks
Fish and chips are very tasty! Pasties were made for the miners originally, it has a lot of tales	Everything, every part of the trip was amazing	Stay longer
Learnt about the significance of Tintagel and it's story, titanic and boats at the Maritime Museum	Bowling on Monday and lazer tag Friday, meeting everyone and meeting up with them	If there was more information about the places we went eg - Tintagel, St Michael's Mount, more communication with exchange schools about expectations for coming here
Pasty, significance of Tintagel in Cornish history, traditional boats in the museum	Learning traditional dances from other countries	Visiting the Eden Project
Legends, myths, stories about the past, King Arthur	Meeting new people, interacting with other cultures, walking around the town visiting new things and places	Change the period of the project (better during summer holidays)
Different Cornish myths and legends such as King Arthur and Bolster the giant	Met some new people, well organised, trips to different places, Ceilidh	Have it in spring or summer
Legends, stories about the past	Met new people, learn about other cultures, trips	Less time at school, more time out. Change the period of the projects (summer)

A lot of it has to do with the sea, there are a lot of legends and traditions	Made new friends, understanding the different traditions, finding out the differences between countries religions, traditions and legends, Ceilidh, the different things that we did after school	Do it in the summer instead of the winter when it's raining, have maps of where we're going because none of us knew where we were going and we could find the good places easily
Behind most traditions there are stories and legends.	Met lots of new people who I've now made friends with, learnt about other countries traditions, Ceilidh	Change the time of year we come to Cornwall
Mandy legends, stories and myths, behind many traditions are legends	Met new people from different countries, trips to different places, Ceilidh	Maybe do it in the summer, Plan B - when it's raining have other options
Many stories, legends and myths are behind it, it has a long history with many interesting stories	There have been interesting places to visit, everyone has been nice and it has been good to speak a lot of English. It was nice to have a dance with everyone and it was also nice that we got to visit other cities	We could have spent one day going through places in Truro because it was the town we were staying and we the one town we spent little time learning about
Finland and Spain have Christmas on 24th December	Good conversations. Dancing went well, well organised	For foreign students to experience our lessons
That lots of our traditions are based on legends, for example the Bolster Giant	Met lots of new people, seeing lots of landmarks, for example visiting the town of Tintagel castle and walking along the new bridge. The Ceilidh was a lot of fun and everyone joined in	Changing the time of year to be in the summer of that the temperature is warmer and we can go surfing. And better chance of good weather
